Introduction

Every year Nelson City Council commissions a resident survey to seek feedback on Council's services and facilities and other information to assist planning, management and accountability. The focus of the survey changes on a three year cycle. This year it primarily covered Social Wellbeing. Next year it will mainly look at all 14 Council Activities and the following year Democracy, Administration including Communication, Consultation and Environmental Management.

The study measures the level of satisfaction with Council performance in a number of service areas. This information helps in the preparation of the annual plan and asset management plans and provides feedback for the annual reporting process.

The information from the study will be used by NCC for future planning across a number of service areas.

Objectives:

▪ Provide information to assist Council to improve their understanding of the issues underlying perceptions of quality of life amongst Nelson residents. More specifically, measure residents' perceptions in regard to:

- Council consultation
- Health and life style
- Well-being
- Feelings of belonging in local communities
- Feelings of safety in Nelson city and local neighbourhoods
- Perceptions of Nelson as a place to live
- Provide feedback of residents' views of priorities in relation to community health and safety, to assist Council in reviewing its priorities in these areas
- Time spent being physically active
- Roads and transport
- Emergency preparation
- Heritage strategy
- Recycling / Waste disposal.

Methodology:

- The study consisted of 400 telephone interviews with residents in the Nelson City Council area:
- Quotas were enforced according to age and gender, to ensure a proportionally representative sample of Nelson City's population was obtained. The data was re-weighted to account for slight variances in the achieved quotas.
- Interviewing took place between Friday June 26th and Sunday July 19th 2009;
- The overall results have a margin of error of +/-4.90% at the 95% confidence level.
